SECTION A ( READING )

Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow (12 marks)

CREDIT CARDS

- 1) Ask people whether credit cards are a necessity or a luxury and most would probably turn them a necessity these days. Credit cards are considered a boon for the ready convenience they confer on the user-you don't have to worry about carrying enough cash when you go shopping or to a restaurant. Just flash your card, sign and walk out.
- 2) But there are many who criticize credit cards for the 'easy money' syndrome they generate. It is true that many people fall into a debt trap-thanks to the extensive use of their credit cards. But if you are careful with your expenses, they can be a handy thing to have around. Hence, you need to consider the term 'responsible usage' and understand the actual significance of living on credit.
- 3) Remember that using a credit card does not mean 'free' credit. In effect, what you are doing is merely postponing the payment. While it looks real good to have to pay only one or two thousand a month on your card, remember that you're paying interest on the amount that you 'revolve' from one billing cycle to the next.
- 4) But there's one precaution we should add. Always settle a credit card bill in full for two good reasons. First and foremost, if you're not able to pay up now, you should not

- have spent it in the first place. Second, the credit charges tends to be extremely high, ranging from two percent to three percent per month.
- 5) There is no shortage of cards on offer. Almost every bank has launched a card; so the biggest hurdle you face is in trying to choose from amongst them.
  - 6) So, how does one choose among the various cards on offer? "The factors for choosing a card revolve around certain differentiating features that one card may offer and the others don't, like acceptability, eligibility, fees, other charges, credit period, cash advance, etc."
  - 7) The cards which carry the Master or Visa affiliation are more widely accepted across the country compared to Diners and American Express cards. Similarly global credit cards are valid even outside India. If you travel regularly within or outside India, these cards would probably suit you the best, due to their acceptability across various outlets.
  - 8) If your credit card is more of a functional accessory while you shop or entertain in your home town, you will want a higher credit limit. Here, foreign and private banks will give you a higher limit. But if you are a value-for-money person who likes the convenience offered by a card, but will alternate between paying by cash and card you could consider credit cards offered by the public sector banks. Their entry fees are typically lower. Moreover, if you need them, you get longer credit periods and lower credit charges. But you may not get a very high credit limit.
  - 9) Many offers now a days carry more than one card, and another circumstances, you could use them to segregate your expenses. For example, if your employer reimburses you for certain travel and entertainment expenses, it would be a good idea to charge all official expenses to one card and all personal expenses to the other card. This will help your card for your official expenses easily.
  - 10) It's all very well to be a member of the plastic age. Like all good things in life, a credit privilege has to be enjoyed.

ODE ON SOLITUDE

Happy the man, whose wish and care
A few paternal acres bound,
Content to breathe his native air,
In his own ground. Whose herds with milk, whose fields with bread,
Whose flocks supply him with attire,
Whose trees in summer yield him shade,
In winter fire.

Blest, who can unconcern'dly find
Hours, days, and years slide soft away,
In health of body, peace of mind,
Quiet by day.

Sound sleep by night; study and ease;
Together mixt ; sweet recreation:

And innocence, which most does please
With meditation.

Thus let me live, unseen, unknown,
Thus unlamented let me die,
Steal from the world, and not a stone
Tell where I lie.

A 1. Read the following poem carefully

IF

By Rudyard Kipling

If you can keep your head when all about you
Are losing theirs and blaming it on you;
If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you,
But make allowance for their doubting too:
If you can wait and not be tired by waiting,
Or, being lied about, don't deal in lies,
Or being hated don't give way to hating,
And yet don't look too good, nor talk too wise;

If you can dream---and not make dreams your master;
If you can think---and not make thoughts your aim,
If you can meet with Triumph and Disaster
And treat those two impostors just the same:.
If you can bear to hear the truth you've spoken
Twisted by knaves to make a trap for fools,
Or watch the things you gave your life to, broken,
And stoop and build'em up with worn-out tools;

If you can make one heap of all your winnings
And risk it on one turn of pitch-and-toss,
And lose, and start again at your beginnings,
And never breathe a word about your loss:
If you can force your heart and nerve and sinew
To serve your turn long after they are gone,
And so hold on when there is nothing in you
Except the Will which says to them: "Hold on!"

If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue,
Or walk with Kings---nor lose the common touch,
If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you,
If all men count with you, but none too much:

If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds' worth of distance run,
Yours is the Earth and everything that's in it,
And---which is more---you'll be a Man, my son!

1.1 The summary of the poem is given below. Complete it by writing the missing word/phrase (1/2 X 6=3 marks)

The poem 'If' is inspirational, motivational, and a set of rules for 'grown-up' living. Kipling's 'If' contains mottos and maxims for life, and is also a blueprint for (a).....integrity, behaviour and self-development. 'If' is perhaps even more relevant today than when Kipling wrote it, as an ethos and a personal philosophy. It gives us a (b)..... to choose between two opposites as one leads us to a (c)..... and successful path and another makes us weak and hopeless. Rudyard has beautifully expressed how to live a fulfilling and fruitful life in a very (d).....manner. As he says in the opening of poem that no matter if everyone is doubting us, we must remain calm and try to calm others logically and not by (e)..... our temper and giving them way to doubt us. It requires a great deal of patience but eventually it will make others (f).....how strong we are and they would definitely be ashamed of their behaviour.

1.2 Explain the following expressions (3 marks)

- (a) fill the unforgiving minute
- (b) nor lose the common touch
- (c) yours is the earth

1.3 Pick out (2 marks)

- Pairs of rhyming words

  - (b)
- Synonyms from lines indicated (lines 11-16)
  - (a) hypocrite
  - (b) dishonest

A.2 Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow: (12 marks)

EV – AN ELECTRIFYING THOUGHT

- (1) According to a study by the Tata Energy Research Institute (TERI), pollution in India could arise to alarming levels by the middle of the century unless urgent action is taken. The group estimates that under current conditions, the suspended particulate matter load in the air would rise to 52 million tons by 2047, up from 17 million in 1997. Methane realized from landfills would increase from 7 million to 39 million tons during the same period. The study cites industrial production, motor vehicles and fossil fuels as the biggest potential contributors. All this would contribute to global warming and acute respiratory problems. One solution to the problem is the increased use of EVs, short for electrically powered vehicles. An EV is an environment friendly vehicle which runs on an electric motor powered by a rechargeable battery. It is nearly noiseless and emits no harmful exhaust.

- (2) An average car in India emits 4 g/km of CO and 2 g/km of Nitrogen Oxides and Hydrocarbons. If there were even 40,000 electric vehicles on the road with an annual driving distance of 12,000 km/vehicles, we would reduce 3,000 tons of pollutants.
- (3) In effect Electrical Vehicles (EVs) could serve as a stimulant in bringing down pollution. EVs would also help free the Indian government of some of its debts and deficits. 50 per cent of all our oil requirement for transportation is imported, which in numbers accounts for a whopping savings in the foreign exchange of over $24 million on petrol alone. The Petroleum Ministry has estimated that every one-dollar increase in international oil prices translates into a Rs.3, 000 crore (Rs. 30 billion) increase in our oil import bill annually.
- (4) EV's would have an effect on the following: Air and Noise pollution; infrastructure availability; safety; vehicle up gradation; economic resource sustainability. EV's are easier to service and maintain, and are ideal for "stop-start" city driving conditions. The absence of gears and clutch make them extremely reliable and easy to drive and manoeuvre on congested roads. Research has revealed that regular commuters don't travel distances more than 30-40 kms a day. With heavy traffic congestion and narrow roads, the average speeds maintained in the city is below 40 km/h. Hence EV's with a top speed of 50-75 km/h and a range of 70-100 km meet over 90 per cent of city mobility requirements.
- (5) The government needs to push EV sales by providing separate meters for charging EVs and by implementing concessional rates of 50 % tariff for night charging. Reserved and free parking areas for EVs with charging facility and making charging points for EVs mandatory in parking lots of all multi-storey buildings, commercial complexes is a must. Some state governments have been proactively pushing the cause by exempting EVs from road and sales taxes. In addition, the Central government is providing a subsidy of Rs. 75,000 on EVs purchased by its organizations.

Sample Paper – 2008
Class - X
Subject - English

A1. Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that following:

1. When television became widespread after World War II, some people thought that television will replace reading. They believed that only a few people might still have any reason to read and that television would become the number one educational tool.
2. We know now that this prediction was incorrect. There has been no decline in most people's need to read. In fact, surveys show that more books than ever are being sold and the amount of time that the students spend reading is greater than in the days before television. Unfortunately, however, many students are doing little or no voluntary reading. Most of the reading that they do is assigned by their teachers.
3. Just think about how much you read every day in order to complete your school work. How often can you finish an assignment or your home-work without doing any reading? Is there any class in your school that does not require you to do some reading? You have to home-economics -directions and recipes, if nothing else- in shop and auto mechanic classes, in the Science lab and certainly in such courses as Social Studies and English. There is no denying the fact that most academic and vocational courses rely heavily on text books.
4. Not too long ago, a group of teachers made a study of the students and learning problems. A curious fact came out of this study. The teachers discovered that the students who did poorly in subjects such as Maths or Art could still do very well in other subjects. But the students who did poorly in reading, almost always did poorly in all their other courses.
5. For a while the teachers who made the study were puzzled by this, but they soon had an answer to this puzzle. The teachers looked at the subjects that the students were failing in and discovered that even subjects like Maths and Science were based on reading.
6. Of course there were also other skills involved such as learning to add and subtract in Maths class. Most of the explanation of how to do things had to be read by the students. Much of the home-work assignments required students to read long sets of directions and tests and, problems in class often involved story problems, problems that were explained in words and had to be read and understood before they could be solved. Your success or failure in these classes will depend on your ability to read the required material. Finally, if you go to college, almost all your study time will be spent reading. You need more and more information and most of this information comes from the printed material you have to read. Even if you could get tapes or movies containing all the information, you need to know that they would not be of much help until and unless you know how to read.

7. Magazines and books may all be on microfilm in the next few years, but they will still have to be read. The same is true of most of what you have to learn in school. Your school is probably not going to throw all printed material out of the window very soon.
8. Success in school courses still depends on an ability to read and those students, who cannot read or at least read well enough to master material, are in trouble.
9. You are moving into a world where every day more and more technical reading is required. Instructions for using applications are becoming more complex. There are written instructions to follow, for food preparations, traffic signs, travel directions and safety information, all requiring the ability to read. People in modern society read hundreds and even thousands of words every day.
10. Also your ability to get and keep a job is directly related to your ability to read. Even the simplest jobs require some reading ability, and many people advance to more important and better paying jobs by getting additional knowledge and skills through reading. The more specialised the job, the need to read confidently, quickly and efficiently. Doctors read professional journals so that they can use the latest medical knowledge in treating patients while pharmacists have to read the prescriptions the doctors write. Lawyers spend their days reading briefs. The number of semi-skilled and professional occupations that require high reading ability is increasing rapidly. Today a person who cannot read is almost unemployable. (About 750 words)

A2. Read the following poem carefully. (8 marks)

ODE ON SOLITUDE

Happy the man, whose wish and care
A few paternal acres bound,
Content to breathe his native air,
In his own ground.

Whose herds with milk, whose fields with bread,
Whose flocks supply him with attire,
Whose trees in summer yield him shade,
In winter fire.

Blest, who can unconcern'dly find
Hours, days, and years slide soft away,

In health of body, peace of mind,
Quiet by day.

Sound sleep by night; study and ease;
Together mixt ; sweet recreation:
And innocence, which most does please
With meditation.

Thus let me live, unseen, unknown,
Thus unlamented let me die,
Steal from the world, and not a stone
Tell where I lie.

Letter from a Parent

(8 Marks)

Dear Sir,
I feel I ought to write
About Tom's essay-work last night
Of all the subjects you have set
This seemed the most unwise yet.
"Describe your family"...Tom wrote it,
So well, I just had to stop it
Being handed in;-So did my wife.
The details of our family life
Are not such a kind, alas,
That I should want them read in class:
We did not wish the High School staff

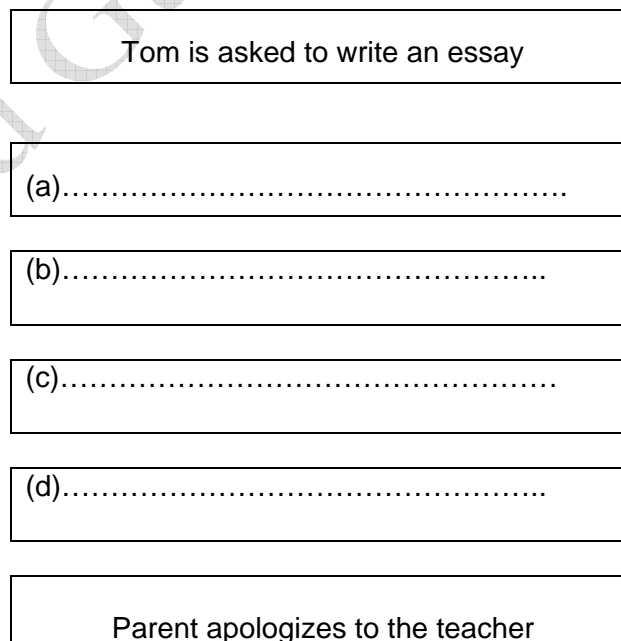

To read them for a-lunch-hour-laugh.
We tore it out. I realize
You may think what we did unwise-
But give it your consideration
And please accept my explanation.
I trust you will not blame my son,
For, after all, the work was done

Yours truly
Harold Honeybun

A1.2 Given below is a flow chart that describes the series of events as they occur in the poem. Taking help from the bubbles given below, complete the flow chart. Write the answer only with the correct no. (2 marks)

A2 Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow (12 marks)

CREDIT CARDS

- 1) Ask people whether credit cards are a necessity or a luxury and most would probably turn them a necessity these days. Credit cards are considered a boon for the ready convenience they confer on the user-you don't have to worry about carrying enough cash when you go shopping or to a restaurant. Just flash your card, sign and walk out.
- 2) But there are many who criticize credit cards for the 'easy money' syndrome they generate. It is true that many people fall into a debt trap-thanks to the extensive use of their credit cards. But if you are careful with your expenses, they can be a handy thing to have around. Hence, you need to consider the term 'responsible usage' and understand the actual significance of living on credit.
- 3) Remember that using a credit card does not mean 'free' credit. In effect, what you are doing is merely postponing the payment. While it looks real good to have to pay only one or two thousand a month on your card, remember that you're paying interest on the amount that you 'revolve' from one billing cycle to the next.
- 4) But there's one precaution we should add. Always settle a credit card bill in full for two good reasons. First and foremost, if you're not able to pay up now, you should not have spent it in the first place. Second, the credit charges tends to be extremely high, ranging from two percent to three percent per month.
- 5) There is no shortage of cards on offer. Almost every bank has launched a card; so the biggest hurdle you face is in trying to choose from amongst them.
- 6) So, how does one choose among the various cards on offer? "The factors for choosing a card revolve around certain differentiating features that one card may offer and the others don't, like acceptability, eligibility, fees, other charges, credit period, cash advance, etc."
- 7) The cards which carry the Master or Visa affiliation are more widely accepted across the country compared to Diners and American Express cards. Similarly global credit cards are valid even outside India. If you travel

- regularly within or outside India, these cards would probably suit you the best, due to their acceptability across various outlets.
- 8) If your credit card is more of a functional accessory while you shop or entertain in your home town, you will want a higher credit limit. Here, foreign and private banks will give you a higher limit. But if you are a value-for-money person who likes the convenience offered by a card, but will alternate between paying by cash and card you could consider credit cards offered by the public sector banks. Their entry fees are typically lower. Moreover, if you need them, you get longer credit periods and lower credit charges. But you may not get a very high credit limit.
  - 9) Many offers now a days carry more than one card, and another circumstances, you could use them to segregate your expenses. For example, if your employer reimburses you for certain travel and entertainment expenses, it would be a good idea to charge all official expenses to one card and all personal expenses to the other card. This will help your card for your official expenses easily.
  - 10) It's all very well to be a member of the plastic age. Like all good things in life, a credit privilege has to be enjoyed.

A2.1 On the basis of the reading of the passage, complete the following summary by filling in the suitable words or phrases in the blanks. (4 marks)

SECTION A – (Reading)

1 Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow

Crocodiles will never openly attack, and they will not even defend their own eggs; directly you attempt to land into the water they go. It is unwise, however, to stand too close to the riverbank, especially at dusk. The crocodile does not lunge out at you with its jaws; instead, having observed you carefully from midstream, he will swim submerged into the shallow, and with scythe like movement of his tail he sweeps into the water. One of the African boys in the park had been taken like this a few days before we arrived, and it was no rare thing, we were told, for the baby elephants to meet their end in just this way when they come down the river to drink. Then the mother elephant goes raging along the bank quite powerless to retaliate.

The crocodile itself has mortal enemies, and not many of the sixty or seventy eggs, which the female lays like a turtle, in the hole in the sand banks are destined to survive. Having laid her eggs the mother covers up the hole and then sometimes departs. This is the moment for the monitor lizard to creep out of the undergrowth, to scrape the sand away and then to gorge on these eggs. Even if the nest remains undiscovered the young crocodiles which hatch out of these eggs need a good deal of luck to survive. They come struggling to the surface of the sand, little ten inch long rubbery things and make directly for the water hissing and snapping as they run.

1.1 Complete the given summary of the passage using one word only. (4)

It is not (i)_____ to stand too close to the riverbank. There may be a crocodile (ii) _____ you. Crocodiles (iii) _____ their victims (iv) _____. - b) A female crocodile lays its _____ eggs. (1)
- c) The young crocodiles are _____ in size. (1)
- d) A monitor lizard feeds on _____ (1)

2. Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow :

- 1 A forgotten hilly district in northern Orissa, known more for its rough roads and grinding poverty, has produced at least 22 world-class hockey players for India and dozens who play at the national level. On the Athens Olympic team were three men from Sundergarh — Captain Dilip Tirkey, fellow defender William Xalco and midfielder Ignace Tirkey. Ignace's younger brother plays in the national junior team.

- 2 The hockey hour is upon the villagers and a local tournament is about to begin. The prize is a fattened goat — or khasi — after which the tournament is named and it is through hundreds of events like this that Sundergarh's most unusual heritage stays alive. An hour before the match, the field is overrun by dozens of little boys — all wannabe Dilips between five and eight years, their faces shining and their sweaty little bodies a blur as they run barefoot on the rocky ground. Some have barely entered the village school but they know their hockey. In this tribal belt a child's first toy is a hockey stick. Not just the number of bullocks he owns judges an eligible groom, but also by the goals he scores. Weddings are solemnized with an over field face-off between families.
- 3 In 2003, the 1500 tribal villages of Sundergarh hosted over 200 hockey tournaments. "We play hockey at the drop of a hat," laughs former Olympian, Michael Kindo. "And sometimes, even when the hat doesn't drop." Nobody can pinpoint exactly when and how hockey came to Sundergarh. But scholars believe that it was the Christian missionaries who introduced it as they swarmed into the tribal region in the 1860s. Whenever schools were set up, they included hockey as an extra-curricular activity. This sport was introduced, as everything required for the sport was available in the forests. Even today, youngsters in the interiors of the district make their own hockey sticks by bending a bamboo shoot, binding one end to create a curve and slow heating it over fire. Youngsters in Lulkidihi village, which has produced the largest number of stars, make a ball by wrapping cloth around a wood apple.
- 4 Kindo believes there is a very good reason Sundergarh has taken to the sport — because members of the 36 tribes that make up the district have the build, temperament and even, he says, the DNA. These descendants of ancient hunter-gatherers are said to have immense stamina, keen eyesight and patience. "We tribals are short, but we have strong legs and can stay bent over a stick for hours,” says Kindo. In a sport that focuses on a small, fast-moving ball, the sharper the eyesight the better.

- 5 However, only about 5 percent of the state’s budget is set apart for sports. Facilities at the government run Panposh Academy are dismal. Kindo hopes to have more stadia, local and civic tournaments. Hockey is to Sundergarh what cricket is to rest of India — a passion, an aspirational sport that helps the tribals get jobs and earn a living.

SECTION – A (Comprehension)
(20 marks)

A.1.Read the poem carefully:

The Champion

The road was hilly, the wind was strong,
The laddie gallantly struggled along,
With never a glance at the downward way
Where his comrades shouted and laughed in play.
Though he longed to be there and join the sport,
In his brave little heart he crushed the thought.
'If I went,' he said, 'I should certainly rue it,
When you've promised a thing, you're bound to do it.'

The pitch was slippery, the bowling hard.
A weary batsman stood on guard,
He'd come to the field with an aching head.
But the game depended on him, they said.
The sun burned hot on his tired back,
And just for a moment he'd thought he'd slack,
He was sorely tempted to lose a wicket:
'T would be easy,' he thought, but it wouldn't be cricket!"

In life sometimes things won't go well,
And 'Duty's' a difficult word to spell,
But the fellow who sets before his eyes
A high ideal as the worthiest prize
Will shun the evil and follow the good,
And say to himself, as a brave lad should,
'It only needs grit, and I must not lack it;
The world's hard nut, but I mean to crack it!'

A2. Read the passage given below:

Excuse me, what was that you whistled?

Visitors to the Canary Islands usually go to Tenerife or Gran Canaria. Very few of them go to the island of Gomera, but Gomera is an island with a surprise, because the people there have two languages: Spanish and whistle-language.

It was a great day in Gomera when Columbus arrived with his ships before his first crossing of the Atlantic. Columbus stayed on the island while he bought fruit and cattle and other animals for the voyage. But Gomera has not shared in many of the events of history. It is not easy to land there from the sea, and aeroplanes cannot land at all. Small boats are used to trade with the other islands.

Gomera is the only place in the world which has whistle language. How did it begin? Why did it begin? We cannot answer

These questions because we do not know the complete history of the island. We do know that the Spaniards were the first people to whistle there. Norman seamen had visited the island in 1402. They found tall people with fair hair and blue eyes who called themselves Guanches. They kept cattle for living. they believed that a great king had once become very angry with the Guanches and had cut out the tongues of every man, woman and child. They had to speak without tongues and the whistle language was the result.

We can certainly imagine other reasons for the beginning of the whistle language. Very deep valleys break up the surface of the island. A person on one side of the valley cannot easily shout at a person on the other side. But he can whistle and can be heard from four miles away, and men say that the record is seven miles. The people who live on the island usually have good teeth and this helps them to whistle well. They must also have good ears so that they can hear other whistlers.

We can understand why the Spaniards took the whistle-language from the Guanches. it is very useful on the island, and the Spaniards found that it was very easy to learn. When somebody is hurt or ill, the whistle-language takes the place of the telephone. If the sick person is a long way from town, San Sebastian, boys and men pass the news from one to another. A boy guarding cattle on a hillside whistles to a man fishing from his boat. The last one is able to describe the trouble fully and exactly to the doctor in San Sebastian. People help each other in the same way when a car breaks down or a cattle is lost.

Whistle-language is very useful in work down at the water-front. It is often used to talk to anybody who is more than thirty metres away. People of all ages can whistle. Country people use the language more than people who live in the town. In fact, town people sometimes 'make mistakes' and give the hearer the wrong idea. Children learn the whistle language as fast as they learn Spanish. Even the birds on the trees have learnt it. On Gomera, people do not copy the birds: the birds copy people.

Radio and T.V often kill the special ways of speaking in different parts of a country. But on Gomera you are nobody if you cannot whistle. When the Spaniards arrived the Guanches died out, but they passed on the whistle-language to new comers. Perhaps soon after television arrives on the island, people in the picture will be whistling the news and other facts and opinions.

SECTION A- (Reading) (20 Marks)

A1. In the history of mankind, dance as an artistic form of expression is extremely old. Evidence of dance as a creative form is available in ancient literary texts, painting and sculpture from pre historic times to the medieval period.

There are now seven major classical dance styles-Bharatnatyam originated from Tamil Nadu, Kathkali from Kerala, Kuchipudi from Andhra Pradesh, Odissi from Orissa, Manipuri from Manipur, Kathak from Northern Region and Satriya from Assam.

Most of these classical dances trace their roots to the grammar and techniques of movement codified in the Natya Shastra compiled by Bharat muni, some times between 2nd century BC and 2nd century AD.

Dance according to Bharat is classified into two main aspects: Nritya and Nritya. Nritya in the broadest sense is “pure abstract dance” which basically does not interpret or communicate a specific theme. It is the movement of limbs and body to the accompaniment of percussion instruments playing a specific rhythmic cycle or tala.

Nritya is the aspect of dance which is expressive and which communicates the meaning or theme of a song through gestures of the hands (hastas) facial expression and body movements.

Stylized interpretation when conveyed through body movements and facial and hand gestures is known as Angika Abhinaya, through words, as Vachika Abhinaya and through costumes and make-up as Aharya Abhinaya

A2. Cataract is opacity in the lens of the eye. The normal lens allows light to reach the retina. When it becomes opaque and does not allow light to reach the retina, we are unable to see clearly. Today, modern medical advances have made cataract surgery very successful. New surgical techniques and intraocular lenses can restore excellent vision in 97% of all cases. In the 1960s' Dr. Charles Kelman from the U.S. started a technique called Phacoemulsification in which cataract was removed through minute incision. Then in 1998, Dr. Amar Agarwal started a technique called Phakonit in which cataracts were removed through a 3mm opening. In 2001, a special lens was made which went through a small opening of one to 1.5mm. This was called the Rollable Intraocular Lens.

The causes for cataract formation are not fully known. It is basically an aging phenomenon. Next to old age are other factors like deficiency of food like proteins and vitamins, some toxic drugs, general diseases like diabetes, infections and injuries. To delay the onset of cataract, one should take nourishing diet rich in proteins and vitamins. Food such as liver, eggs, milk products, carrots, cabbages and yeast are good. One must protect eyes from excessive exposure to sunrays, X-rays, and intense heat and injuries. Diseases such as diabetes and syphilis should be treated early and effectively.

There is no medical treatment for cataract. The only treatment is surgery. Once the cataract is removed, the eye is unable to focus, as there is no lens. So, one has to use an artificial lens. This can either be a pair of spectacles, contact lens or an intraocular lens. Spectacles can be used as they are cheap and within the reach of the common man. But these are very heavy and not comfortable. Further, if one removes them the person is blind. Other disadvantages are that everything is magnified and the side view is very poor.

The second alternative is to use contact lens. This is an artificial lens placed on the eye. Unlike spectacles they do not leave any lasting marks nor does the wearer have the stigma of spectacles attached to his personality. Besides, they can be used according to the convenience of the person. The disadvantage, as with spectacles, is that when it is removed the person is blind. Another problem is that they have to be put on in the morning and removed at night, which is difficult for an old person. So, the best method is to give the patient an intraocular lens. This is an artificial lens in the eye during surgery. It will remain in place till the end of life. This lens does not irritate the eye.

Today, cataract surgery is an outpatient procedure. The patient comes in the morning for surgery and after the operation can go home. The surgery is done without any injection, without any pad and without any stitch being placed in the eye. This is called the no injection, no pad, and no stitch cataract surgical technique. The patients are not at all admitted in the hospital and can go back to work the next day. Besides, complications like infection and haemorrhage are very rare. But if the retina or nerve of the eye is damaged, then even after cataract operation the person will not be able to see.
